The grounds upon which these Senators and Representatives have been counted out, are not sufficient for the action based upon them. There is no question as to the fact of the election of the venty-nine Republican Representatives and eight Republican Senators. The only question is whether the minute flaws dis

Edison's Lamp.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Sunday tory of the steps taken by the great inventor in reaching his present stand-point of complete success with his electric lamp. This is illustrated with cuts, and gives a rather comprehensive detail of the matter. The silence that has brooded over this great work, has been caused by the effort to regulate the flow of electricity. The point of discovery now made, is that carbonized paper is found to answer the purpose that it was thought, platinum alone could serve. This brings into use ployed, and one that is found better than the precious metals. At this stage of invention all other difficulties had been overcome. This was the last and one of the

The lamp can be made at a cost of twenty-five cents. In its simplest form it by striking at the root of disease and re is as cheap as a gas tip. It is a plain glass globe, about the size of a small orange. In the bottom is fitted a metalic stopper, through which the copper wires pass, and a strip of carbonized paper, shaped like a horseshoe, connects the wires. The air is exhausted in the globe. Turn on the electricity, which is quite as si-aple an operation as turning on gas, and the carbon becomes and remains luminous, giving out a soft, brilliant, powerful light, and the wick endures. No limit to its endurance has been found. No matches are needed to strike a light-You touch the key and there is your illumination. The glass globes do not become heated. It grows warm, but by no possibility can there be any combustion Break the glass and the light is instantly and utterly extinguished. The momen the air enters, the light is out. It would be perfectly safe, therefore, to use such a light in a powder magazine. It will be of estimable advantage on shipboard. It can be employed with the happlest results in mines extra-hazardous. It will, at once abolish the use of matches in our houses, and by introducing a light that neither heats nor enkindles, vastly reduce the liabilities of fires, and thus speedily put down the rates of insurance. This light will do away with the necessity of heat in well lighted apartments. One can produce a dazzling illumination without changing the temperature.

As there is no combustion, there is no smoke. Wherever a wire can be stretched light may be cheaply produced, so there will be no excuse for dark alleys. This Did you ever notice a poor chap that stands in the first picture of the almane with the fish and sheep and scorpions and bulls and twins, etc., around him? Did to induse them for the first picture of the almane with the fish and sheep and scorpions and bulls and twins, etc., around him? Did to induse them for the first picture of the almane with the first picture of the almane will be the terror of burglass, for by the noiseless touching of a key, not only an apartment, but an entire house, may be will be the terror of burglars, for by the you ever notice that he was naked and had to induce them to do so by Agent Adams instantly flooded with light, to the terror and discomfiture of all who seek darkness rather than light.

It is a light that does not harm the eyes, and that may be shaded and regulat. ed at pleasure-combinging the softness of the oil lamp with the splendor of the burning of carbon points.

It has entered into the theory, that a whole city could be light with electricbecause the whites want their lands. The ity, from a single establishment. This war will give color of justification for however, is not now considered practicadriving them out and parceling out the bie. It is, however, thought, that if the city of New York, for instance, were to be divided into, say twelve districts each receiving an electric current from an indo pendent center, that this would bring the city within practical scope, for general lighting.

Edison's tavorite theory on the subject is that the gas companies will be glad to boy the right of lighting under his invention and that the wires will be conveyed through the gas pipes, the new lamp being simply screwed on where the gas tips are found. Very fine insulated wire will suffice. All the appointments are simple Agents are already in Cincinnati, says the Commercial, for the purpose of intro. ducing the Edison lamp. The object is to our senses, in its full import, the terrinot to sell the right to individuals, but to imploy capital in supplying districts. It, is Edison's careful estimate that the cost of the electric light, according to this system, will be something less than one-half the cost of coal gas. He is sure it will not exceed that figure. Beyond that, he proposes to use electricity as a motor, to run light machinery the family sewing machine, for instance, and has prepared a meter for the exact measurement of the electricity furnished to each house. Its importance need not be dwelt upon. In the matter of light and illumination its effect will be revolutionary.

Edison's public exhibition of the light s to occur at his place of residence, Menlo Park, New Jersy, on the evening of New Years day. The number of lamps io be displayed is about seven hundred.

It has been ascertained that a peculiar glass is required-a fine, clear glass, free from all impurities, and especially lime. The strips of carbonized paper are a delicate brown color. It is Edison's opinion that one strip or wick will last for many years-perhaps, indeed, as long as the glass. It is the theory of Mr. Edison that gas-pipes can be used readily for the conveyance of the wires, but his fa vorite idea is to extend the wires through iron pipes lined with india rubber and placed a few mehes below the surface of the streets, just clearing the pavements The copper wires directly connecting with the lamps are nearly as fine as hairs. The largest number of lamps lit at one time in Edison's shop is seventeen-and they gave forth a steady and uniform ilation-one lamp having about twenty five candle power.

There is no reason to question the genu neness of the invention or the thorough ness of the success obtained. The perfect simplicity of the lamp warrants it. The fame of the inventor gives the assurance that he has not identified himself with a sham, or permitted a speculation in his name and character.

The value of stock in gas companie can not be destroyed in a day or year, but this much may be taken into account by a new and formidable competition will come to pass, and that before long electricity will take its place as affording the most splendid light ever seen in the world, and the cheapest.

The advance agents of the Edison ElectrickLight interest, left Cincinnati on Monday night last for Indianapolis, having effected arrangements for the use of the light in Cincinnati, Covington and Newport.
